THE FIRST PIECE OF CONSERVATIVE STATESMANSHIP IS MUCH PRAISED

PROTECTORATE OVER NICARAGUA

Administration's Latest Proposal
Meets With Approval.

REPUBLICANS TO SUPPORT IT

Proposed Treaty Held Merely a Step in the Evolution of a Policy Which Eventually Will Provide a More Substantial and General Control by the United States Over Central America—Means End of Uprisings.

Washington, July 21.—The administration's proposal to establish by treaty what amounts to an American protectorate over Nicaragua was generally accepted as the most far-reaching step in the foreign policy of the United States since the Spanish-American war. As President Wilson's first piece of conservative statesmanship in the realm of foreign affairs, the proposal laid before the senate foreign relations committee by Secretary of State Bryan excited great interest and much approval. The prospects for the success of the administration's plan seem bright. The arrangement with Nicaragua is assured of strong Republican support, including that of Senators Lodge and Root in the foreign relations committee. It is considered almost certain that the plan also will receive the acquiescence of the Democratic members.

While diplomatic and official Washington were greatly interested in the immediate effect of the Bryan proposal upon Nicaragua, their attention was directed chiefly to the larger aspect of the proposed treaty relations with this southern republic. The impression was general that Mr. Bryan's present proposal is merely a step in the evolution of a policy which will provide a more substantial and general control by the United States over Central America.

It is certain that the acceptance of the direct protection of the United States by the single republic of Nicaragua will have a remarkably calming effect on the revolutionary movements and upon political disturbances

Paris, July 20.—A student entered the Neuilly Police station this evening with a pearl necklace, which he said he had found behind the Dauphine restaurant, in the Bois de Boulogne. The police thought possibly this might be the $650,000 necklace alleged to have been stolen recently during transit by post from Paris to a dealer in London, for which a reward of $50,000 has been offered.

They summoned Henri Salamans, the Paris agent of Max Meyer, the London dealer to whom the necklace had been shipped, and a careful examination of the pearls was made. M. Salamans declared that while seemingly identical, he did not believe it was the stolen necklace. It will be examined by experts tomorrow.

AFTER LAPSE OF A CENTURY THE GALLANT OLD FLAGSHIP SAILS PROUDLY INTO PORT

TOWED TO SCENE OF ITS VICTORY

Perry's Flagship Niagara Arrives at Put-In-Bay.

IS GIVEN A NOISY WELCOME

Hoarse Whistles of the Steam Craft Drown Out the Bands and the Shouts of Fifteen Thousand People.
Half Hundred Yachts in the Harbor Salute the Old Relic—Sailboats to Race This Week.

Put-In-Bay, O., July 21.—After 100 years, Commodore Perry's flagship, the Niagara, returned to the scene of its victory over the British fleet in the battle of Lake Erie, Sept. 10, 1813.

Towed by the Wolverine, the naval militia ship of Pennsylvania, and accompanied by Ohio's naval militia ships, the Essex and the Dorchester, the Niagara reached Gibraltar island, the point from which Perry's fleet first sighted the British fleet of two brigs, two ships, two schooners and one sloop.

Fifteen thousand people visited Put-In-Bay to see the Niagara brought into the port to which she returned after the battle of 100 years ago. The hoarse whistle of the steam craft in the harbor drowned out the "Star Spangled Banner," played by the Wolverine's marine band. Half a hundred yachts, anchored in the harbor in readiness for the regatta of the Interlake Yachting association, saluted the old relic.

The Perry centennial commission hoped to have the Niagara in the harbor in time to have the square-rigged sails unfurled, to give the visitors a glimpse of a vessel of bygone days under full sail, but the vessel did not arrive in time.

The Niagara will remain here for the remainder of this week, which is sailboat week of the interlake yachting regatta.

MACHINE RUNS WILD

Young Woman Killed and Another Terribly Mangled.

Corry, Pa., July 21.—Samuel Patterson of Warren lost control of his automobile at Dugall. The machine ran off the road and turned over in a ravine. Libby Simmons, 16, was caught under the car and killed. Gladys Long had both legs broken. Mr. and Mrs. Simmons, parents of Libby Simmons, the other occupants, were not hurt. The party with two other cars was on the way to spend the day at Panama Rocks.

Rolls Into Creek; Drowns.
Columbus, O., July 21.—Rolling into Big Walnut creek while asleep on the bank, Pat Fugit, 38, colored laborer, who lived here, was drowned.

THE OUTLOOK IS VERY BRIGHT

SENATE WILL PASS THE CURRENCY BILL

Leaders Bent On Carrying Out
the Wilson Program.

Washington, July 21.—With debate on the tariff bill now under way in the senate, leaders are making plans for the consideration of the administration banking and currency bill. It is the purpose of the leaders to pass the banking bill in the house just about the time a vote is taken on the tariff bill in the senate. Then it is hoped that the senate will buckle down to the consideration of banking reform, while the tariff bill is being whipped into shape in conference.

While the attitude of the senate toward the banking bill has not been defined, President Wilson and his advisers appear to be confident that the senate can be induced to sit long enough to pass the banking bill. This means a session that will run well into the fall, but all concerned seem to be bent on carrying out the administration program.

HERE'S A JOKE

BLOOMER GIRLS ALL BOYS

Frenzied Fans Attack Players and the Box Office.

Washington, July 21.—The "Bloomer Girls" played one inning of baseball before 4,000 fans at the old Union league park here. Before the end of the first inning there was a riot and the game ended abruptly. The "girls" played a team of Maryland amateurs. When a Marylander tried to stretch a single into a two-bagger he was cut off at second by "Miss Walsh," who spiked the runner. The latter swung at "Miss Walsh" and knocked off her wig, disclosing short, bristly hair. Then from the side lines and grandstand came a wild yell. A youth in the third-base crowd sang out: "They're all wearing wigs, the pitcher's chewing tobacco."

At this the crowd surged out of the stands, sweeping before it Police Captain Daley and six patrolmen, but the "bloomer girls" were already on the run for the gate, through which they dashed across the street and into the clubhouse. The fans volleyed the retreating baseball players with bottles and bricks and other handy articles. The mob next stormed the box office, but Kid Carsey, the manager of the affair, was not to be found. Receipts totalled $700.

Falls Off Handcar; Killed.
Steubenville, O., July 21.—Pete Zambone, 40, was killed on the Pennsylvania railroad, near here, when he fell from a handcar and two other handcars passed over his body.

ESTABLISHING THE ORDER IN WHICH HEARINGS WILL BE PROCEEDED WITH

MEN'S DEMANDS HAVE THE CALL

Wage Question Will Be Arbitrated
First By Mediation Board.

RAILROAD GRIEVANCES NEXT

Conference Being Held in New York Between Members of the Board and Representatives of the Roads and Employees—Latter Unalterably Opposed to Simultaneous Arbitration.
Amicable Adjustment Anticipated.

New York, July 21.—An agreement to arbitrate first the wage and other demands of the trainmen and conductors against the eastern railroads and then to take up the roads' grievances against the men is the probable outcome of a conference between members of the mediation board created by the Newlands act and representatives of the employees and of the railroads.

Judge William L. Chambers and G. W. W. Hanger, the two members of the board already confirmed by the senate, met here today, and the conference began at once.

The board will frame a stipulation, acceptable to both sides, of the questions to be arbitrated. The employees claim that only their demands, which have been the subject of negotiations for months, shall be taken before the mediation board. The railroads, on the other hand, have presented demands for changes in existing agreements with their employees in affairs outside the sphere of the present controversy as subjects for arbitration.

A. B. Garretson and W. G. Lee, the heads respectively of the conductors' and trainmen's organizations, have declared the men will not agree to simultaneous arbitration of the men's and the roads' demands, announcing that should the roads persist in their declared intention of pressing their grievances at this time, the strike, recently authorized by vote of the employees, would be called at once.

In view of the determined attitude of the men, belief exists that the mediators will recommend an amendment to take up first the men's demands and after these have been decided by the arbitral body to be selected to give the railroads their day in court, as it were, and settle this dispute in a separate arbitration.

THE "CURE" FAILED

JUDGE CLAIMED BY DEATH

Most Prominent Patient to Receive the Friedmann Treatment.

Topsfield, Mass., July 21.—Alfred Warriner Cooley, former United States assistant attorney general and former judge of the New Mexico supreme court, the most prominent patient to receive Dr. Frederick Friedmann's "cure" for tuberculosis, succumbed to the disease here. He was 40 years old. The dramatic 3,000-mile dash across the continent from Silver City, N. M., to Providence, where Dr. Friedmann was then holding his only New England clinic, was sensational. On April 16, within two hours of his arrival in Providence, Judge Cooley received the first injection of vaccine. Later he received a second injection from Friedmann.

BLOWN A MILE, UNHURT

Winchester, Mass., July 21.—The factory of the New England Fireworks company went up in a puff of smoke, the result of an explosion, carrying with it Manager Ernest Borelli and three workmen. A searching party found Borelli in a clump of bushes, a mile from the scene of the explosion, practically unhurt. The others were burned severely.

New Picture of Former King Manuel, His Fiancee, Her Father and His Mother

This interesting picture was made a few days ago at a summer resort in England. On the left is the Prince of Hohenzollern, the father of Princess Victoria Augustine of Hohenzollern, who is standing beside her future husband, ex-King Manuel of Portugal. Queen Amelia, the deposed monarch's mother, is the other person in the picture.

URGENT DEMAND FOR HIS SERVICE

BRYAN CANCELS LECTURE DATES

Mexican Situation Necessitates
His Presence in Washington.

Winona, Ind., July 21.—William J. Bryan decided to cancel his Chautauqua lecture dates for the present at least and hurry back to Washington. This announcement was made at the close of Mr. Bryan's lecture here, and is believed to be due to an urgent demand for his presence at his post as secretary of state in view of impending grave international problems, the latest being a call of distress from American citizens in Mexico.

Alarmed by threats of the rebels to attack the port of Frontera, on the east coast, these Americans asked the Washington government to rush a warship to that port for their protection.

Another cause for the quick change in Mr. Bryan's plans is said to be the amazing disclosure that the Japanese are negotiating with Huerta for the colonization of the state of Morales with Japanese.

Mr. Bryan will confer with Ambassador Wilson on the Mexican situation.

It is said that Dr. Urrutia, the minister of the interior, has some unexplained plan to colonize the state of Morales with Japanese. It is added that General Felix Diaz will bring from 9,000 to 20,000 Japanese colonists with him on his return from Japan.

SAME OLD STORY

Pittsburg, Pa., July 21.—Alleging that he failed to carry out his promise to marry her, Mrs. Anne E. Davis, beautiful widow of Joseph Davis, a prominent iron manufacturer in East Liverpool, O., entered suit demanding $25,000 damages from William Y. Stroh, vice president of a steel plant.

UNAPPRECIATIVE MEN

Lima, O., July 21.—No longer will Lima women be permitted to stroll the streets attired in silhouette and slit skirt gowns, and transparent dresses also have received rebuke in an order issued by Police Chief Earnest, following the arrest of Miss Mary Lindsay, 25, for alleged indecent exposure.

DRAWN UNDER BARGE

Party of Three Are Drowned Off Cincinnati Wharf.

Cincinnati, O., July 21.—In view of many persons who were standing about the wharf in this city, Fred Salzman, 26; Margaret Mullins, 19, and Anna Hall, 20, three young pleasure-seekers, were drowned, and the swiftness with which they were carried under a coal fleet prevented attempt at rescue. Salzman, who was the owner of a new launch, was taking it out on its maiden trip, and had not proceeded far when his engine broke down. The boat drifted back against a coal fleet and all were drawn under.

FIRE ON A JAG

Bellefontaine, O., July 21.—Just as a car loaded with beer was being pulled into Quincy, a dry town, the car caught fire and was destroyed with all its contents.

WALLS COLLAPSE AND WORKMEN NARROWLY ESCAPE BEING CAUGHT UNDER TONS OF BRICK AND MORTAR

WEAKENED WALLS OF THE OLD MILLIKAN BUILDING GIVE WAY.

Rumbling of Cracking Brick Gives Moments Warning and Half Score of Workmen Flee for Their Lives.

T. J. HALL BARELY ESCAPES WHEN WALL CRUSHES BUILDING.

Complete Change in Plans and Specifications Necessary and Undertaker Klever Places His Loss at $3-000—Sharpe Building May Be Replaced with Another Structure.

With a crash and roar that could be heard several squares distant the west and center walls of the old Millikan building opposite the court house on Market street gave way and fell in a heap to the earth, nearly crushing to death a half score of persons in and near the building at the time.

The structure is the one purchased by Undertaker Klever and was being remodeled with a view to forming one of the most up-to-date undertaking establishments in this part of Ohio.

For several days workmen have been engaged in the work of remodeling the structure, digging a cellar under it and planning to build an addition to the walls of the old structure, bringing it out even with the sidewalk.

In excavating the foundation of the west wall had been greatly weakened by the removal of earth, the bottom of the cellar being below the bottom of the foundation wall, with only a narrow wall of earth left to withstand the great weight of the wall.

Workmen were busily engaged about the place Saturday afternoon about four o'clock when they were warned by a rumble and cracking of the walls. Realizing that the walls were about to fall they shouted a warning and ran from beneath the structure as it split in twain and collapsed.

The west wall fell outward and crushed the small building occupied by T. J. Hall's dry cleaning establishment, making a complete wreck of it and nearly catching Mr. Hall who was at work in the structure at the time and escaped by plunging through the door when he heard the rumble of the cracking walls. He had barely reached the outside and safety when the tons of brick and mortar fell with great force upon the building, crushing it like an egg shell and damaging his dry cleaning machinery.

The small building is the property of Mrs. Madeline Sharpe Davies, and may be replaced with a modern structure, although plans have not yet been decided upon.

Contractor Addison Hays, who has been doing the excavation work, and Mr. Klever held a consultation Monday afternoon to decide upon the next step, as the collapse of the structure means a complete change in plans and specifications and an additional expense estimated by Mr. Klever at $3,000 to $3,500.

It was the original plan to utilize the old walls in constructing the new building, as the old walls were substantial and had withstood the service of years with apparently very little damage.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO HAVE $5,000 A YEAR?

Then purchase on easy terms 10 acres of North Yakima (Washington) land. This one act of yours will bring you more than $5000 each year as long as you live, and provide a great legacy for your children.

Elevation and Product

This land is situated in the heart of the world's greatest fruit country, quite near Nob Hill, the most valuable and most highly developed agricultural land in the world. Our land is even richer than Nob Hill, and 200 feet higher, (1800 feet) the perfect elevation for fruit. All other crops yield prolific returns. Nob Hill apples are known and in strong demand the world over. These apples bring readily $1.50 per dozen in Washington, D. C. Therefore the land that will grow such apples is the SAFEST,
MOST PERMANENT AND BEST PAYING INVESTMENT OF THE AGE.

Fabulous Prices Received

Developed fruit lands on Nob Hill and Seloh, ADJOINING the lands of Maynard & Co., Inc., are now selling, have brought fabulous prices during recent years, as will be seen from transfers taken from the county recorders' office:

March 11, 1910, D. E. Lesh to Reservation Land Co., 70 acres, $55,000.

May 15, 1910, J. B. Maher & Co.
to E. M. Carr, 40 acres, $25,000.

June 11, 1910, L. D. Luce to Edward Root, 20 acres, $25,000.

April 25, 1910, Alexander Burnham to George C. Walker, 11 acres, $33,000.

April 25, 1910, Alfred Henry to Robert Ray, 5 acres, $30,000.

May 4, 1910, E. L. Haney to M. N.
Richards, 10 acres, $12,500.

May 6, 1910, W. D. Ingalls to W.
F. McNott, 20 acres, $30,000.

Five acres at North Yakima lately sold for $35,000, 46 acres in Fruit-vale, Nob Hill district, sold for $170-000.

Values of Lands

The market value of raw land under different Government reservoir system projects, is set forth in the following statement, wherein it will be seen that NORTH YAKIMA UNDER IRRIGATION LAND IS WORTH DOUBLE that of any other section. Prices are, per acre:

Project	Fruits	Non-irrigated	Irrigated
Orland, California	Oliv. & Or.	$50 to $100	$100 to $ 750
Alta, California	Oliv. & Lem.	20 to 50	125 to 1000
Fresno, California	Gr. & Rai.	20 to 150	100 to 500
Grand Valley, Colorado	Ap. & Pch.	40 to 200	100 to 1000
YAKIMA, WASHINGTON	Ap. & Prs.	50 to 250	250 to 2000

Land at North Yakima that you can buy today at $400 per acre will double in value in a year and treble in two years, producing with commercial orchards at the rate of $1000 to $2000 per acre in six to eight years. This is the last chance to get water for irrigation close to Yakima.

On August 21 a special excursion will tour the West, stopping at all principal cities and points of interest, including a thorough inspection of North Yakima Lands. The expense entire will be $250 per person.
To every person purchasing 20 acres I will refund the entire expense of trip, $250. On 10 acre purchase I will refund one-half the expense and on 5 acre purchase I will refund one-fourth the expense. Personally I am the owner of 20 acres of North Yakima land, 10 acres purchased a year ago and 10 acres purchased 2 months ago.

SOIL AND CLIMATE

The soil is of volcanic origin like eastern soil it contains no dcayed vegetable matter, but is entirely mineral and 100 feet deep. The largest portion is potash, one of the principal ingredients of commercial fertilizers. Climatic and soil conditions harmonize perfectly and nature here is at her best. Trees grow as big here in 3 years as they do in 6 years elsewhere. Buds are 3 to 4 weeks later than in other places, thereby escaping all danger from frost. A crop is certain every year.

NORTH YAKIMA CITY

North Yakima is the best city of its size in the U. S. It is a principal stopping point on two great transcontinental railways, the main line of the Northern Pacific and the Oregon-Washington Ry. & Navigation Co. It is the county seat and has a court house, costing $125,000, a Federal building costing $180,000, High school, $125,000; 7 public schools, $250,000; Masonic Temple, $150,000;
Y. M. C. A., $85,000; 5 stone churches $225,000; 10 frame churches, public library, $18,500, etc.

Population, 1900 3,156
Population, 1905 7,000
Population, 1910 14,082

An increase of 346 1/2 per cent in ten years. In the same ten years the bank deposits increased at even a greater rate, viz:—from $1,027,078 in 1900 to $5,188,000 in 1910.

Its streets are 100 feet wide, clean, well paved and beautifully lighted.
It's main business street, Yakima avenue, is built entirely of stone and brick—not a frame building in the business district.

Its principal residence street,
Naches avenue, is a prettier street than any residence street in Washington, D. C.

NEW OIL FIELD NEAR NELSONVILLE

Wildcatters are opening a new oil field near Nelsonville, and a 100 barrel well was finished Saturday. Other wells produce more than 50 barrels per day.

Considerable excitement has followed the drilling in of the 100-barrel hole and other companies are now busy planning wells throughout the community. The Columbus Brick and Terra Cotta company has a producer, and the Diamond Clay company is sinking a well.

The belief has been expressed that Nelsonville is located over an oil field, and if such is the case that city will experience another boom.

BOARDED FREIGHT FOR WEDDING TRIP

A wedding trip somewhat out of the ordinary and which terminated in disaster came to light Saturday when Charles Henry and wife of Chillicothe were arrested at Circleville for riding a freight train.

When placed under arrest for train riding Henry admitted that he had just been married to the woman with him and that they were on their honeymoon enroute to Massillon.

"It took all my money to get the license and pay the preacher, so what else could we do but steal a ride", he explained to the officers.
When it became known that they were newly married they were released and went on their way rejoicing.

CHARLES E. LITTLEFIELD
EX-CONGRESSMAN, NAMED IN MULHALL'S TESTIMONY

Washington, July 21.—It cost the National Association of Manufacturers $60,000 to re-elect Congressman Littlefield of Maine in the campaign of 1906, according to the revelations of M. W. Mulhall, the N. A. M. lobbyist, before the senate lobby investigation committee. "It was regarded all over as a national contest," said Mulhall, "and the association staked its reputation on the result." This was the fight in which the American Federation of Labor made a stand against Littlefield because of his record against labor legislation. Mulhall was there once more in the guise of a friend of labor, but in reality working for the N. A. M. and for the success of Littlefield.

HUSBAND IN JAIL
WIFE GETS DIVORCE

Regarding Homer Recob, who is in the county jail facing the grand jury on a charge of forgery, the Chillicothe News says:

"Goldie Cox and Homer L. Recob were married at Washington C. H. on January 12, 1912, and came here to live. In February, 1912, a month afterward, Recob left home, and his wife never heard from him again until she saw in the News-Advertiser that he had been arrested at Washington C. H. for forgery. He is still in jail there, awaiting trial.

"The evidence showed that Recob furnished the home with installment furniture, the dealer going so far as to advance the first payment. When Recob left the furniture man took all the goods back and got nothing for his trouble.

Judge Goldsberry made careful inquiry and learned that the wife has no immediate intention of getting married again, and he therefore granted her a divorce on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. Elijah Cutright, Jr., was the attorney."

A Suggestion of Fact

One of our good friends has questioned the correctness of the editorial in Friday's Herald referring to the July moon as the "harvest moon".

Technically speaking our friend is correct in his assertion that the July moon is not the harvest moon.

The best authorities designate the harvest moon as that full moon nearest the autumnal equinox. At that season the moon, when nearly full, rises for several consecutive nights at about the same hour so that there is an unusual proportion of moon-light evenings. The phenomenon, the authorities say, is more striking in higher latitudes than in the United States and disappears entirely in the tropics. It is attributed to the fact that at the time of the autumnal equinox, the full moon (necessarily opposite to the sun) is in that part of its orbit which makes the least possible angle with the eastern horizon at the point where the moon rises.

The full moon which happens on or nearest to the 21st of September is called the harvest moon.

From that designation it will be observed that, strictly speaking the harvest moon is the one following or during the fall harvest season.

In the common acceptance of the term "harvest moon", however, people are not usually governed by the exact scientific designation, have long since refused to be bound by the literal designation and, disregarding the exact data which would give the real scientific authority for the application of the term have, with an authority of their own creation, designated the moon which comes in the harvest season whether it be the wheat and hay harvest or the corn harvest as the harvest moon.

As a matter of fact this is the common acceptance of the term. We have in this latitude two harvest moons each year—the one in July and the one in September or October.

Strictly speaking, however, using as a basis the real authority which coined the phrase and authorized its use, we have but one harvest moon each year, or really to be literal we do not have even one in all years, but about that there is some dispute among the authorities.

Recognizing that the application of the term to the July moon was not strictly authorized by scientific authorities the words were quoted in the editorial heading Friday.

While conceding the correctness of our good friend's contention we must insist that an editorial license, like poetic license, especially when the beauties of a night like last Thursday cast a spell of enchantment over frail mortals, warrants the use of the term in speaking of the July moon—especially this year.

We should have been more specific and practical and would have been, no doubt, but for the charm of it all. That moon and that night was no ordinary combination and the omission of literal facts could well be excused.

To our friend who brought us back to a practical world and scientific exactness, we feel grateful, but in no sense repentant for a digression from scientific data to the definition of the harvest moon as written by just common folks.

Farmers Have More Comforts Than Many People In the Cities

By GEORGE ADE, Author and Humorist

WHY SHOULD ANYBODY WANT TO LEAVE A FARM? WHAT IS THERE BETTER THAN FARM LIFE AT ITS BEST? THE FARMER AND HIS WIFE THESE DAYS MAY HAVE EVERY ADVANTAGE ENJOYED BY THEIR CITY COUSINS AND MAY SUCCEED IN MISSING ALL THE DISADVANTAGES OF LIFE IN A TOWN. ADD THAT FARM DWELLERS HAVE A LOT OF COMFORTS AND PLEASURES UNOBTAINABLE IN A CITY AND YOU BEGIN TO SEE WHY IT'S THE HEIGHT OF FOLLY FOR THE YOUNG FOLKS ON THE FARM TO THINK THEY CAN BETTER THEMSELVES ELSEWHERE.

They've already begun to learn their little lesson. All through the west the sons of the farmers are themselves taking over the farms. The MOVEMENT BACK TO THE LAND HAS BEEN GROWING FOR fifteen years. There's nothing really sudden about it.

A farm is a fine place for developing PHYSICAL, MENTAL AND MORAL HEALTH. You get up and go to bed early, and you stay outdoors and eat wholesome, simple food. Then a successful farmer is bound to feel that he is somebody.

He raises corn and oats and beans and potatoes and pigs and poultry and cattle, and he can't help taking an interest in them and being proud of them and of himself. His close contact with the plain, homely, genuine things of life has an EFFECT ON HIS CHARACTER. He's fond of his home and wife and children, and he doesn't want to leave them.

Of course there's no place equal to a farm for BRINGING UP CHILDREN. From the start they have the great natural advantages of pure air, pure water and plenty of room to play.

Poetry For Today

WHAT PEOPLE WANT.
Laugh, and the world laughs with you;
Weep, and you weep alone:
For the sad old earth
Must borrow its mirth,
It has trouble enough of its own.
Sing, and the hills will answer;
Sigh, it is lost on the air;
The echoes bound
To a joyful sound,
But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice, and men will seek you;
Grieve, and they turn and go;
They want full measure
Of all your pleasure,
But they do not want your woe.

Be glad, and your friends are many;
Be sad, and you lose them all;
There are none to decline
Your nectared wine
But alone you must drink life's gall.

Feast, and your halls are crowded;
Fast, and the world goes by;
Succeed and give,
And it helps you live,
But it cannot help you die.

There is room in the halls of pleasure
For a long and lordly train;
But one by one
We must all file on Through the narrow aisles of pain.
— Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Balkan War Over.

London, July 21.—It looks as though the fighting in the Balkans between the Bulgarians and the Greeks, Serbians, Montenegrins and Rumanians is all over. One report is that peace will be signed within three days. Bulgaria appears to be willing to cede everything that has been asked by each country in order to procure peace.

Gravitation.

Gravitation as a supposed innate power was noticed by the Greeks and also by Seneca, who speaks of the moon attracting the waters, about 38 B. C. Kepler investigated the subject about 1615, and Hooke devised a system of gravitation about 1674. The principles of gravity were demonstrated by Galilei at Florence about 1633, but it was not until the great Newton stepped upon the stage that the matter was fairly settled. The others had guessed. Newton proved, and to Newton unquestionably belongs the high honor of having shown us the true mechanism of the heavens.

Sharpening a Pencil.

"Even the cleverest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to be at fault, after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution," said the late Mark Twain.

"Take the case of any pencil sharpened by any woman. If you have witnesses, you will find she did it with a knife, but if you simply take the aspect of the pencil you will say she did it with her teeth."

A Winner.

Mrs. Goldington—I am amazed, sir, that you should propose to my daughter. You have not known her a week. The Wily Sultor—True, madam. But I have known you for some time, and everybody says your daughter takes after you. (He got the girl.)

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

Organized in November of 1911, the North Dakota Better Farming Association is covering one-third the state. 24 men are employed in field work. This places North Dakota ahead, it is said of any other state in the number of men engaged in better farming work and the number of acres involved. During the year approximately 20,000 acres of crops are under supervision of representatives of the association and the co-operation among the farmers are reaching into the thousands. The organization is incorporated.

London has for some time past been deploring the rapid disappearance of the old-fashioned cab and cab horse. Other European cities have equal reasons for regret on this score. Of the 50,000 cab horses in London, a few years ago, only about 7000 remain, and they are disappearing month by month. In some instances the cab men have adopted themselves to auto vehicles, but in the great majority of cases they have been deprived of occupation.

Describing the wonders of the great Southwest, the Churchman says of Arizona that the state is not only interesting but very fertile. Its name is derived not from the arid zone, as is commonly believed, but from a word signifying "few springs." Where irrigation is possible we find the most fertile land in all the world. Intensive farming is practiced, and a farmer can produce, perhaps, as much from 40 acres in Arizona as from 200 acres in the East. Great irrigation schemes, like the Roosevelt dam and the Colorado river syphon near Yuma, are bringing hundreds of thousands of acres under cultivation. Arizona is the home of our most ancient prehistoric civilization.

Already building permits aggregating $20,000,000 including a $1,000,000 department store has been issued in Los Angeles. This is $11,000,000 less than the record year of 1912.

What is said to be the finest pearl yet found in Illinois waters is now on display in a jeweler's in the Chicago Savings bank where it is being held at a value of $8700. Jessie Carr, of Sheridan, Ill., found it in a mussel on the banks of the Fox river.

A memorial will be sent to the next congress by a committee composed of the residents of the Avenue of Presidents, in Washington city, asking permission to place along the two sides of this avenue bust statues of all the presidents and vice-presidents of the U. S., to be paid for without the aid of congress or the District of Columbia. This is the most splendid residential avenue in our country and on it have lived all our presidents but one. Avenue of Presidents is the most fitting situation for such a series of busts, in that it is a broad and central boulevard leading directly from the White House to Salt Creek park. It is especially well adapted for decoration, being 160 feet wide and 7 miles long, containing on either side a double row of trees and 40 feet of parking furnishing, therefore an ideal setting for such statues. The statues are to be of bronze with pedestals of high colored granite, one in the center of each square.

The Romance of Electricity.

We stood on a high platform surrounded by handles, switches, signals—apparatus enough to put all New York into darkness or to annihilate it in an instant by the unloosing of terrible cohorts of volts—and faced an enormous white hall, sparsely peopled by a few colossal machines that seemed to be revolving and oscillating about their business with the fatalism of conquered and resigned leviathans. We were alone in it save that now and then in the far distant spaces a figure might flit and disappear between the huge glowing columns of metal. It was a hall enchanted and inexplicable. I understood nothing of it. But I understood that half the electricity of New York was being generated by its engines of a hundred and fifty thousand horsepower and that if it were lifted the elevators of New York would be immediately paralyzed and the 20,000,000 lights expire beneath the eyes of a startled population. I could have gazed upon it to this day and brooded to this day upon the human imaginations that had perfected it.—Arnold Bennett in "Your United States."

All His Fault.

Mr. Binks (with an invalid wife)—Look here, now! This paper says nothing will improve a woman's health like sweeping, baking, bedmaking, dishwashing and polishing the silver. Mrs. Binks—Huh! You know very well you never gave me any silver to polish. No wonder I'm ill!—London Mail.

A GLIMPSE BACK THROUGH YEARS

(John E. M. Kerr.)

All persons indebted to Rev. Geo. Carpenter, pastor of the Presbyterian church, are requested by the deacons to call and settle as the subscription for the present year is overdue.

On Monday night some thief stole Dr. Rush's fine saddle horse. On Friday night some rascal stole John D. Stuckey's saddle horse, bridle and saddle. A week ago Jesse Johnson had stolen a fine horse and buggy. This has been recovered in St. Marys, where the thief had sold the rig.

Judge McLean's favorite saddle horse was stolen recently by a Hillsboro gentleman, but the thief, as well as the horse has been recovered.

Miss Anthony says that a woman's lobby will be established at Washington to look after the interests of the sex on the suffrage question. We are glad. There has been a powerful male lobby there for years and to it could probably be traced immense corruption and debauchery. Susan says no charming woman will be eligible to her lobby and the work done on its merits.

Weston, the man who outwalks them all failed to accomplish the feat of 400 miles in 5 days. He broke down on the 271st mile.

Rocks in the Atlantic.

Is it possible that there are partly submerged rocks in the Atlantic ocean, and so close to the steamship routes as to constitute a danger? The Nautical Gazette (London) answers the question in the affirmative and adds that some of these rocks are so close to the place where the Titanic was lost as to suggest that the fatal iceberg was aground upon one of them. The Atlantic ocean, he it remembered, covers a large area. A rock that may be only a foot or so above the water or a foot or so below the water is not easy to see. Such rocks were occasionally reported in the old leisurely days of the sailing ships, and they made a sort of apologetic appearance on the charts. Then they were removed from the charts because no one else saw them, which was natural enough, considering the size of the Atlantic, and the inconspicuousness of a rock perhaps no longer, above the water, than a dining room table.

The Mills of the Gods.

The expression "the mills of the gods" has been used in various forms. According to "Bartlett's Quotations," the first form of the saying is from George Herbert's "Jacula Pendentum" and is as follows: "God's mill grinds slow, but sure."

In F. von Logau's "Retribution," translated by Longfellow, the sentiment appears as follows: "Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small. Though with patience he stands waiting, with exactness grinds he all." This quotation will be found among "Poetic Aphorisms," by Longfellow, translated by him from the "Singe-dichte" of Friedrich von Logau. The first line of von Logau's is said to have been taken from the Greek "Oracula Sibyllina," VIII, 14, "The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceeding small."

COOL AND FAIR WEATHER PROMISED FOR ENTIRE WEEK

Washington, July 21.—No hot weather is looked for this week by the Weather Bureau.

"The present pressure distribution over the Northern Hemisphere," said the Weekly Bulletin today, "appears favorable for the prevalence of moderate, or at least not unusually high temperatures, over the greater portion of the country during the coming week."

"Over the South and Southwest temperatures probably will be high at times, but not so high as during the week just ended."

"As to precipitation, prospects are not very favorable and generally fair weather may be expected over all sections except the South Atlantic and East Gulf states, where occasional thunder showers are likely to occur."

"There are no indications of a West Indian disturbance."

OSBORN BANKERS IN BANKRUPTCY

Voluntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed in the United States District court at Cincinnati Saturday by John H. Barkman, president of the defunct Osborn bank and Charles C. Jackson, cashier of the institution.

Barkman named his liabilities at $164,813.90 and his assets at $74,729.93. He claimed $47,387.65 is for accommodation paper. Jackson gives his liabilities at $77,367.05 and his assets at $39,345.73.

Both men are alleged to have contributed to the downfall of the Osborn bank, in which tens of thousands of dollars were lost by depositors.

CASE DISMISSED OTHERS CONTINUED

After hearing the evidence in the case of Frank Wood against Wesley Webb in which the defendant was charged with assault, Justice T. N. Craig discharged the defendant.

The other cases of carrying concealed weapons and making threats of physical violence, were continued over.

The affair grew out of a squabble between the parties on the streets of White Oak in northern Madison township.

PHYSICIAN'S AUTO TAKES THE DITCH

Saturday evening while Dr. H. L. Stitt and his chauffeur were making a trip to Millwood, the automobile skidded and took the ditch on Millikan avenue, turning partly over and damaging the machine considerably.

Both Dr. Stitt and his chauffeur, Will Anderson, escaped serious injury.

BIG AWNING FALLS ONE MAN INJURED

While the 42-foot awning in front of Dale's store was being raised Saturday evening the chain snapped and the awning fell with a crash to the sidewalk, striking Ched Roberts and slightly injuring him. His heavy hat saved him from perhaps serious injury. Fortunately no one else was beneath the awning at the time.

The chain holding the awning snapped at the instant the Millikan building on Court street collapsed. It was the largest of its kind in the city, and may not be replaced.

CONFECTIONERY.

Centuries Ago It Was a Part of the Art of the Apothecary

Curiously enough, the making of confectionery originated in a way with the apothecaries about 500 years ago. It was then that sugar was first imported into England, and it was then that "confections" first became known. For a time they appeared only in medical form, the apothecaries using the newly imported sugar as a means of mitigating the bitterness of their doses. In other words, they mixed their drugs with it, and therein lay the origin of many of the syrups and medicated candies, the ancestors of our cough drops and lozenges. The cost of sugar was far too high, and most people were far too poor to permit of its being eaten for its own sake alone and as a mere luxury.

It was only a couple of centuries ago that there began to appear a new phase of the apothecary's art. Confections began to be made more or less apart from any medicinal purpose and because people liked them, and eventually the confectioner's business became quite separate and distinct from that of the apothecary.

Although the confectioner's trade may be said to be about 200 years old, it was only within recent times that it became a real and extensive industry. At first sugar was heavily taxed, and the confectioner's trade was pursued upon very elementary principles. For a long time everything was done by hand. Implements were of the very simplest—candy kettles heated on small brick furnaces, pestles and mortars, rolling pins and scissors, etc. The output was very small, and, comparatively speaking, sweetmeats of all sorts were expensive and frequently unattractive.

All this has been changed, and nowadays the most improved machinery and implements combine to produce the most delicate and attractive sweets. Muscles have been superseded by engines, pestles and mortars and rolling pins, and scissors have given place to revolving pans and steam pans, and mechanism for beating and kneading and mixing, for cutting and slicing and grinding, for rolling and grating and stamping, for crushing ice and freezing cream and other processes.

While many of the best and most expensive candies are still very largely made by hand processes, by far the greater mass of sweetmeats is produced by machinery.—Harper's Weekly.

CHARMING NEW GOWN FOR SUMMER AFTERNOON WEAR

CREPE DE CHINE GOWN

This dainty afternoon gown of dotted crepe de chine has a decided suggestion of fullness in the draped tunic, which is adjusted in points finished with fringed silk tassels at each side of the rather narrow skirt. Although no cash is worn one is suggested by the folds brought over the girdle in the back. The collar of embroidered white linen has a suggestion of the Medici and is finished in a very full frilled fichu.

CAR DERAILED

A Pennsylvania freight car was derailed at the West Court street crossing Saturday afternoon by a broken brake dropping under the trucks.

It required a half hour to replace the car, and the C. H. and D. T. & I. roads were tied up during that time.

LOCAL GUARDSMEN LEAVE FOR CAMP

Company M. O. N. G., with nearly 50 men in line, left on the early morning train for Columbus Sunday to go from that point to Camp Perry.

where the entire Fourth regiment is encamped at the present time. Major R. G. Allen of the Fourth accompanied the local company.

The troops from all of the surrounding towns are included in regiment now encamped at Camp Perry. Camp Perry will be broken and the return made next Saturday evening or Sunday.

All of the troops will have a hard week of target practice and drill, field maneuvers being one of the leading parts of the training.

Only a few persons were up to see the troop entrain owing to the earliness of the hour.

FLASH OF OLD-TIME FORM SHOWN BY ATHLETICS SUNDAY

Gem City Reserve Team Conquerors of Those Horrid Lilly Brew Boys is Blanked by a Score of 5 to 0.

"GOING DOWN"

SHOOTING THE CHUTES

Naps Drop Another Game, This Time to the Bostons.

Cleveland, O., July 21.—Ray Collins' pitching was too much for the Cleveland Athletics. The locals hit him hard at times, but he was invincible in the pinches and after the first inning he had the Naps at his mercy. Score: Athletics, 5; Naps, 0.

Incidentally the Gem City Reserve team of Dayton was literally smothered by the lopsided score of 5 to 0.

Our boys played rings around the visitors at all angles of the game and at its conclusion had their guests gasping like a string of catfish in the bottom of a spring wagon.

Corwin at short stop starred in the field with eight chances and nary a wobble.

He was here, there and everywhere whenever the visitors hit the ball. While the Athletics made five fozzles in the field the game on the defensive angle was fast and furious while the attack was fairly too strong for the visitors to check.

In shutting out the Reserves the local team humiliated the conquerors of the Lilly Brews—the team which drubbed our lads 18 to 2 one short week ago. Smith, Noon and Hedgecock led in long hits and the way they lambasted the horse-hide was a caution to house cleaners.

They ran bases with an ease and abandon which had the visitors ballooning.

It was simply the Athletics all the way. The team seems back in its 1912 form and is hard to head off.

Having it seems, struck their stride the boys are due to rise up soon in the percentage column.

OUR BOYS ALL THE WAY

CORWIN'S SENSATIONAL WORK.

Local Shortstop Covered Acres of Ground and Got Everything He Went After. Noon and Hedgecock Do Some Stick Work.

The local baseball team came back to earth in the Sunday game with a suddenness that not only evidenced a firm determination to remain on earth and play baseball as they know how to play it, but was, at the same time, an amazing delight to the goodly bunch of fans who journeyed faithfully forth.

Incidentally the Gem City Reserve team of Dayton was literally smothered by the lopsided score of 5 to 0.

JAKE STAHL, EX-MANAGER OF BOSTON RED SOX, SAYS HE IS THROUGH WITH ACTIVE PART IN ORGANIZED BASEBALL

Chicago, July 21.—President Jas. McAleer, of the Red Sox dethroned and unconditionally released Jake Stahl, manager of the Red Sox, and the man who led Boston to a pennant and the championship of the baseball world is a free agent. Stories have been rife for more than a week that there was internal dissension in the ranks of the Red Sox. One story which came from Boston was to the effect that Stahl had aspirations to become president of the team as the successor of McAleer. Both the president and manager insisted upon denying after the break that there was any truth in this story. The former manager said that he would retain his stock in the club as a good investment. McAleer declined to go into details, although he said that he thought the team would make a better showing under a new manager. From some of his friends it was learned, however, that he took the position that Stahl was a good man when he was on the field and in the game, but that he could not get results from the bench. "McAleer thinks I should get in the game," said Stahl. "That is impossible because of my injured foot. I am just as anxious to play first base as Mr. McAleer is to have me play, but I can't. I shall return to Boston, get my belongings and then take a short vacation. After that I will return to Chicago, take up my position in the bank which I left and forget about baseball. I'm through."

JIGGS DONAHUE LAYS DOWN BAT

The Pirates bought his release from the Old Soldiers and after a few months he was disposed of to the Minneapolis club and went to Milwaukee to play with Connie Mack, then manager of the American league club of that city. Donahue later went back to Milwaukee and was switched from behind the bat to first base.

The White Sox secured Donahue in 1903, and in later years he secured fame through his great playing at first base. From the Sox, he went to Washington and his last engagement was with the Galveston, Texas, club, as manager.

Just a few years ago, Donahue was one of the greatest baseball players that ever donned a uniform. As a member of the Chicago White Sox in 1906, he was termed the greatest first sacker that was ever known, and his praises were sung from one end of the baseball world to the other.

After leaving Springfield, Donahue went to Marietta in 1896 as a catcher. From there he went to the Grand Rapids team and was later sold to Wheeling, then purchased by the Dayton team.
